Inspection Party Stumbles Upon Outsider Sampling the Discovery.

Sam H. Treloar Accepts Management Of Property and Will Assume Duties at Once.

Of late the attractions of the Utah mining field have appealed more strongly than ever before to the mining men of other states with the result that there has been something of an influx of foreign talent, of which Montana has been supplying its full Mortana has been supplying its full share.

Among those who recently have cast their lot in with the mining life of Utah is Sam H. Treloar, whose visit to the property of the Bingham Butte some ten days ago, has resulted in his making a permanent arrangement to take up his residence here and assume the management of the property.

At the time of the visit of investigation to the Bingham property, Mr. Treloar was especially fortunate, both with respect to time and circumstance, inasmuch as it was during this time that a new ledge, previously unsuspected, was accidentally discovered, which may prove of great value.

In walking over the property, the party passed through a cut made by the railroad of the Utah Copper company, and in this, back of what is known as the Caledonia veia, a man was noticed quietly taking a sample, which lod to the more eareful noting of known as the Caledonia veia, a man was noticed quietly taking a sample, which led to the more careful noting of the character of the material which had excited his curiosity, and later, during the same day, when the president of the company was applied to for a lease, covering the section, where the sampling had been done, the character of the discovery became known, and one of the early undertakings of Manager Treloar, will be the development of the newly discovered ledge. A season of great activity upon the assumption of the duties of manager by Mr. Treloar, is anticipated, and interested ones are very hopeful of many good things from the Bingham Butte in consequence.

STOCK MARKET IS DULL.

Transactions on the stock board at the regular session this morning were something after the style of the pro-yerbial hens teeth. Business was dull, though prices remained firm, and the market was what might be called firm, but year dull market was what might be called han, but very dull.

The little flurry which marked the trading in Nevada Hills yesterday, owing to a reported strike in the mine, had evidently exhausted itself by the time trading opened this morning, and only a few sales were recorded.

GOLD CIRCLE SPECIMENS.

Handsome Display of Gold Dust and Pleture Rock Attracts Attention, One of the handsomest small displays of gold specimens from Nevada, ever of gold specimens from Nevada, ever seen here, is in the window of Hardwicks, near the stock exchange.

The display is from the Queen property of Gold Circle, and consists of dust, said to have been rocked out of the surface dirt, at the rate of one and a quarter ounces an hour, by a single man and a crude rocker. The handsome part of the display, and one which naturally attracts the most attention, is the gold quartz specimens—some of them more gold than quartz, nuggets, in fact, and the larger pieces of porphyritic quartz, imbedded in which are the masses of gold, in both flakes and wire-like stringers.

It is not to be supposed that the

It is not to be supposed that the property from which the specimens came contains any great body of the material, but the display as one of specimen rock and gold, is very attractive.

Washington, D. My record in the senate was endorsed by the state convention and various county conventions and I have received assurances of approval of my work here in behalf of Idaho, and her interests from leadof Idano, and her interests from leading Republicans of every section of the state as well as Republican newspapers. My candidacy was an issue in the recent campaign and it was generally known that the Republican candidates for the legislature if elected would vote for my re-election so I have no reason to bere-election, so I have no reason to be-lieve there will be any opposition to my election for another term. # MARKET STRONGER, CLOSE WAS FIRM

New York, Dec. 4.-Prices started strongly upwards in the opening dealings in stocks today, a number of the low prices sharing with the usual market leaders a prominent place in the dealings.

Representative stocks of all classes were bought on a liberal scale, especially Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific. Business was active and prices rose steadily on a constantly widening market. Gains of a point or more were general. Great Northern preferred advanced 3 points, Wabash preferred 2%. Northern points, Wabash preferred 2%, Northern Pacific, Louisville & Nasnville, Rock Island preferred and Chesapeake & Ohio 2, Union Pacific, 1¾ and New York Central and Amalgamated Copper 1½.

The strong stocks made additional fractional gains, but the market became quiter and the tone in general was steady, but with a check to the advancing tendency.

Bonds were strong, restricted, the traders apparently assuming a waiting attitude. The morning gains were well maintained but there was little effort made to revive activity in the market. Heavy buying of Wabash preferred was a feature, that issue advancing 4%, and low-priced stocks generally were in decreased demand. Prices of the usual active stocks were not much altered.

The market closed firm and strong in spots. New stock took up the advance, but there was free realizing and a reaction running from 1 to 1½ points. Wabash preferred was carried up an extreme 7%, the common and Erie 2, Chesapeake & Ohio and Texas Pacific 2½6, American Tobacco preferred 2¾ and Denver & Rio Grande 1½. When prices steadied the trading became extremely quiet, but turned active again on the rally.
